In many ways 2015 embodied the qualities of a good footrace: starting off filled with anticipation and determination, moving into a Springtime of planning, fundraising, and training - all fuelled by teamwork, and finally sprinting to the year’s end, winded but lifted in joyful camaraderie as we crossed the finish line on many projects, including a bold capital campaign.

At Mercy Care Downtown administrative offices and clinic, simultaneous projects moved along at a fast pace as we transitioned our electronic medical records system to EPIC - in partnership with OCHIN, a national cooperative of FQHC’s and completely renovated the clinic space, from waiting room to team-based work stations, thereby improving workflow and integrating behavioral health and patient centered medical home best practices. We worked closely with the CDC and state, county and community partners on a TB taskforce to formulate a response plan to a severe TB outbreak in Atlanta’s homeless shelters. Meanwhile, Mercy Care Rome completed the final phase of renovation on its “long wing.”

A rewarding and beautiful moment during the year was presenting the Mercy Moves Through Me Award to former First Lady Rosalynn Carter. The graciousness of her persona filled the ballroom and stayed in our hearts, a gentle reminder of the power of persistence when facing insurmountable odds.

High spirits marked a “Legacy Run” in celebration of our 30th anniversary. The run visibly and meaningfully recalled Mercy Care’s years of “taking healthcare to the streets.” Loyal collaborators from those years cheered us on as runners waved through the 6-mile route in downtown Atlanta. This “first” kicked off during our National Health Centers Week press event and was a symbolic highpoint of the year for many.

At the official groundbreaking for Mercy Care’s Chamblee clinic this past October, the energy was palpable: getting the shovel into real dirt was a proud moment for all. The property’s location and the many planned partnerships hold great promise for the community.

This project, the largest we’ve taken on, represents more than two years of strategic planning and bold board stewardship. A standing ovation is in order for Mercy Care Foundation and campaign co-chairs Dave Fitzgerald, Jane Haverty and Jim Winchester. They led the effort with stamina and heart. Generous donors responded by contributing $13.9 million in just 18 months.

Yes, this year has been one for the memory books, packed with milestone events, outstanding generosity and gratifying outcomes. With all these dreams and plans for growth, Mercy Care is strengthened and set on a course to deliver values-driven healthcare in unique ways with others who, like us, keep putting one foot in front of the other, steadily moving toward a more just, compassionate, and healthy future.

“As we run, we become.” Amby Burfoot
Mapping out a plan of action to change a community doesn’t happen by accident, anymore than lacing up your shoes is an accident.

"Mercy Care has been a strategic partner since day one. Nothing made me prouder than the chance to celebrate their 30th anniversary by participating in the Legacy Run. You know, mapping out a plan of action to change a community doesn’t happen by accident, anymore than lacing up our shoes is an accident. A purposeful plan to get up and get out on the streets, to give critical medical care and support, shows determination. Each foot strike was a reminder that we are all in this run together."

Vince Smith, Executive Director, Gateway Center.

30th anniversary
Legacy Run

A pop of a balloon signaled the start, sending a team of runners out on a six-mile loop through downtown Atlanta. The Legacy Run route included 16 service sites, past clinics and partner agencies, some of whom have been serving the poor and homeless with Mercy Care since 1985. Each stop along the way was a chance to snap a picture, tweet and cheer on the team in a celebration of our shared legacy of service.

Partner agencies and clinics on Legacy Run route:
On October 28, 2015 ground was broken for a new clinic facility located on Peachtree Road in Chamblee, with The Most Reverend Wilton D. Gregory, Archbishop of Atlanta, presiding. “In this new facility, as you do now, you will show mercy by establishing a compassionate presence for the lives of the many people who will come for medical care and support.”

“It was a true team effort. Boards and staff came together in a grassroots effort to educate and engage. Mercy Care was not well known in the philanthropic community and neither were the unmet healthcare needs of the immigrant population living in the Buford Highway corridor. So we began by reaching out. Slowly and methodically, we told the story of Mercy Care and the uninsured people we serve. Education went hand-in-hand with support for the new clinic. The campaign helped us define who we are and who we want to be. It was an outstanding community-wide process, including all the work with the City of Chamblee Mayor’s office and city council. We ended 2015 sprinting across the finish line, arm-in-arm, ready to begin construction.”

~ Ms. Jane M. Haverty, Mercy Care Capital Campaign Co-Chair

“We often hear that life is a marathon and not a sprint. In 2015, it seemed to be both for the Mercy Care Foundation. The accelerated campaign to fund the clinic required quick action on the part of the Foundation, Mercy Care and its generous supporters. And soon we will see Mercy Care Chamblee become a reality – allowing us to serve the neediest in the community. We’re in it for the long run.” ~ Peter Hennessy

TB Outbreak Response

Following a two-year spike in treatment-resistant Tuberculosis in Atlanta’s homeless community, Mercy Care was awarded a contract from the Georgia Department of Public Health to administer a TB outreach screening program. Ramping up quickly, our medical outreach workers tested 684 clients in the last quarter of 2015, with 6% testing positive. All were referred to the Fulton County Health Department.

As part of the Fulton County TB Task Force, Tom Andrews, Mercy Care President, took the lead in the TB outbreak response, coordinating with key officials from Fulton County Health and Wellness, the Georgia State Department of Public Health’s TB division, Emory Medical School, the Centers for Disease Control and leaders from most all of Atlanta’s homeless services provider community.

A Legacy of Care
The Sisters of Mercy have a long history of healing ministry in the South. In 1880 they opened Atlanta Hospital, the first hospital in the city and later named Saint Joseph’s. Founded in 1985, Mercy Care is a legacy of Saint Joseph's Hospital and provides for the needs of the homeless and working poor. Since its founding, Mercy Care has grown to be the only Federally Qualified Healthcare Center for the Homeless in Atlanta, and has achieved Patient Centered Medical Home status by the National Committee for Quality Assurance and CORE provider status by the Georgia Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Disabilities.

“Not everything that can be counted, counts and not everything that counts can be counted.”

Albert Einstein
At the intersection of hope and healing, a powerful statement which, in many ways, embodies the spirit of Mercy Care. This spirit that lives through our employees, volunteers, donors and clients. This critical mission could not take place without the generous donations from many sectors of the community.

With key strategic initiatives launched by the Mercy Care Boards, along with the momentum of the Mercy Care Chamblee Capital Campaign guiding our efforts, Mercy Care Foundation raised $13,421,607 in the fiscal year ending June 30, 2015. These funds supported the many Mercy Care programs which deliver excellent healthcare to those experiencing homelessness and poverty in our community. We are grateful and humbled by this wonderful expression of Mercy through financial support, compassion, leadership and advocacy.

“Here is an example of what care could look like in a people-centered health system. In Atlanta there is a small village of shacks next to a swamp. They call it Hut City. At dusk one evening I was traveling along with a mobile care team from Mercy Care. An Emory medical student sat at the table, headlamp shining as she checked blood pressure in the glow of a laptop PC wirelessly connected to the electronic medical records system at Grady Hospital a few miles away. At the end of the visit we left a prescription and made a clinic appointment. Care can be very different if we design around the needs of our patients, not around our own needs.”

Excerpt from Georgetown University Medical School 2015 commencement address by Richard J. Gilfillan, MD, President and Chief Executive Officer, Trinity Health
